THE DOG CASE HEARD BY POLICE BOARD

Mrs. W. H. Ramey Appears Before The Commissioners

DOG CASE UP 8 TIMES

Policeman Snellings Who Complains About Dog Also Heard—Board Defers Decision In Snellings' Case.

Mrs. William H. Ramey, 1109 Duke street, last night appeared before the board of police commissioners at a meeting held in the office of Mayor Duncan and told that body that on three different occasions she had been summoned into police court as a result of complaints made against the barking of her collie dog by Policeman Snellings and that her husband had been cited into court five times. Mrs. Ramey claimed that she was considerably humiliated October 29 which was the last time she was cited into court.

Justice Snow she said had ordered the dog destroyed or taken out of the city and that through her attorney Frank Stuart she had appealed the case to the corporation court.

Mrs. Ramey explained to the board that she is the mother of eight children and the dog is the only protection she has when her husband is out on the road, he being employed by the Southern Railway Company. She also told the board that Policeman Snellings claims the barking of the dog keeps him from sleeping in the day time, he getting part of his sleep in the day after doing night police duty.

Mrs. Ramey presented to the board a petition signed by a number of neighbors who declared that her dog did not annoy them. Mrs. Ramey said there are other dogs in the neighborhood.

Policeman Snellings told the commissioners that the matter has been going on for the last year and there has been no let up. He lives he said on Prince street and Mrs. Ramey on Duke street. The barking of the dog he said worked on his nerves. The officer was asked a number of questions by members of the board and the board continued the case pending the decision of the corporation court in the matter.

At the suggestion of Mayor Duncan the commissioners decided to request city council to appoint six policemen to serve at night from now till April 1.

Policeman Talbot was reprimanded by Commissioner R. E. Knight at the request of the board, for an alleged violation of section 19 the rules and regulations of the board.

Chief Goods submitted his monthly report showing that 169 arrests were made since his last report. Heading the list were 39 for unlicensed dogs and 24 for speeding.

The chief also told the commissioners that since a burglar had entered the parsonage of St. Mary's Church and attacked Rev. Louis Smet more men had been assigned to night duty than ever before.

At the request of D. G. Grillbortzer, George West was appointed policeman for Mr. Grillbortzer's place.

A policeman was cited for his alleged failure to promptly settle a bill of $16.79. He promised to settle it by December 1 which was satisfactory to all and the case was dropped.

Wedding Bells Halt

Frances Waters, Colored, Spent $490 Given To Buy Goods After Marriage

Wedding bells that soon were to ring for Frances Walters, and David Montague, colored, have been halted and all because Montague yesterday called on his bride to be for $490 which he had given her to buy furniture for their home to be she was unable to produce the money The woman instead, according to the complainant claimed the bank book was lost and that on that account she could not get the money.

Montague was not altogether satisfied with this and he obtained the services of William P. Woolls and ascertained that out of the $490 the bride-elect had deposited $10 and already had withdrawn that. The woman admitted that she got the money and told the court it was given to her at the rate of about $20 a month. She also claimed she thought it was for her own personal use and accordingly had spent it. The court held the accused for the grand jury. She was arrested by Policemen Lawrnce Padgett and Welker.

Arguments will be made in Norfolk Saturday before Judge D. Lawrence Groner for the removal of the receiver appointed by him for the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation. Some time ago Judge Groner named Joseph L. Crupper receiver for this concern.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 17.—If the government of the United States has its way, a treaty will be drawn up and signed almost immediately by this government, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy on the subject of naval armaments.

Both the questions of land armaments and of the Far East will be left for future agreements if they are found possible. The treaty to be asked by the United States will be one which will neither ask nor give guaranties of any kind, and which will not even provide force of its carrying into effect.

The treaty will be, if this government has its way, more in the form of a gentleman's agreement which will become inoperative whenever any nation violates its terms. In other words, it will not be provided that if Japan, for example, should break the treaty and build more ships than allotted her, that all the other four nations would force her to desist from the violation. On the contrary it will be left, under the plan of the United States, for the public sentiment of the world to keep the treaty in full force and effect.

General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C. Commander-in-Chief of the Confederate Veterans, and who took part in the burial of the unknown dead at Arlington on Armistice Day, told the Gazette correspondent today that he heartily endorsed the plan of Secretary of State Hughes for a reduction in naval armament by the United States, Japan and Great Britain.

"I believe Secretary Hughes made a ten strike," said General Carr, "When he fired the bombshell into the conference last Saturday announcing to the world that America is ready to disarm and begin at once to junk 60-odd warships. We should never have another war. Like the South in the war between the states, America gave the flower of her manhood in the great war overseas. It has cost the world billions of dollars and millions of lives and we should never let it occur again.

"I am told that something like $775,000,000 will be saved from the discontinuance of building warships alone. This great amount could be used in building roads and schoolhouses throughout the nation instead of building warships to destroy mankind. Of course, I do not know just how far the other countries will go in this great work which America has undertaken the lead, but I am certain that the United States has put the foreign countries on notice that there is to be no child's play at this conference. America means business and the other countries must put up or admit that they did not mean business when they sent delegates to America to attend the conference."

If William Jennings Bryan, Wayne B. Wheeler and other radical "dry" leaders could have attended the luncheon given yesterday afternoon in the Pan-American building by Secretary of State Hughes to the foreign delegates to the arms conference, they would have received a shock from which it would have taken days to recover. At each plate were placed glasses used for champagne, cocktails and other intoxicating drinks. Of course, it is not known that such drinks were served, but there would have been no violation of the Volstead law had such been the case for the United States government owns but one-twenty-secondth interest in the Pan-American building and our laws do not go there. Naturally, most of the delegates assembled at the luncheon have been used to having wines with their meals and the appearance of the glasses noted above did not shock their sensitive nerves. Just what was served at the luncheon is not known, but the suspicious looking glasses denoted that something stronger than water was provided for the guests who felt themselves in need of a stimulant.

There was another form of "entertainment" provided for the luncheon guests which was not on the menu. The meal was served in the patio or palm room of the Hall of Nations. Several magnificently colored parrots were perched among the palm trees that adorned the wide open space. One of them, a big bird with red, yellow and blue plumage, evidently became disturbed at the appearance of the delegates. Hanging by his beak from his roost, the parrot dangled in the air doing the "shimmy" for fully five minutes. Then apparently satisfied with his bit of entertainment, he again resumed his position at the top of the date palm and the luncheon guests continued their repast.

CHINA OFFERS HER PLEA FOR THE FAR EAST

Great Britain is Willing to Drop Alliance For Triple Pact

U. S. TO BACK STAND

British Will Suggest that U. S. Join In Agreement to Cover Pacific Question—May Seek Army Cut.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Principal interest in the proceedings of the Washington Conference swung today to the problems of the Far East.

Behind the closed doors of the committee on Far Eastern affairs, China precipitated the dicussion by submitting to the other powers a comprehensive statement of principles upon which she will press her claims.

Simultaneously came the suggestion from British quarters that Great Britain will not oppose an abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, but is prepared to suggest in its place a tripartite arrangement, embracing the United States, Great Britain and Japan, to cover the Pacific problem.

There was no session of the Conference as such. Instead its members confined their attention to the deliberations of the several committees appointed by the main body to handle the deals of the agenda.

Thus, while the committee on Far Eastern affairs was concerning itself with the discussion arising over China's appeal, the subcommittee of the committee on naval armament was preparing to plunge into technical details of the Hughes proposal. Today's session of this committee, also held behind closed doors, is said to have dealt largely with the general principles involved.

In this connection members of Congress, watching from the side lines, took occasion today to voice objection to the suggestion made at the open session of the Conference yesterday that there be some modification of the Hughes program to a 10 year naval holiday.

Another feature of the day's developments was the suggestion from responsible quarters that the British will seek at the proper time to urge the desirability of limiting land as well as naval forces.

From a different viewpoint the French delegation is likewise interested in this question. With France, however, its importance arises out of her belief that without adequate defense her borders may again be overrun by her recent foe. This attitude was clearly reflected in a statment made today by Premier Briand.

Despite the British suggestion for a modification of the 10 year naval holiday so that one battleship per year may be constructed and the building of war ships may not become a lost art, this Govrnmnt, it was authoritatively stated today, is not in a position to assent. It will counter with the argument that necessary repairs will keep the shipbuilding industry alive and that merchant vessel shipyards furnish facilities for the resumption of the construction of war vessels when the time comes.

There appears little prospect of any material modification in the Hughes schedule covering submarine tonnage. England wants the 90,000 tons permitted to herself and the United States cut to almost half that figure, but this country is not expected to agree. When the United States in 1919 considered the doing away with submarines this nation had in mind a great battleship fleet. Such a fleet fades from both paper and sea with the adoption of the Hughes proposal, and with the fleet abolished the United States will feel that she requires 90,000 tons of submarines to guard her long coasts.

BURGLAR'S HAT

Chief Goods Gets Letter From Portland, Maine

Chief of Police Goods today received a letter from Henry T. Fortune, lieutenant of police, Portland, Maine, concerning the hat found at the rectory of St. Mary's Church which was left by the burglar who attacked Rev. Louis Smet the morning of November 2.

According to the writer Haskell and Jones, hat dealers of Portland, Maine, say if they sold the hat it must have been in the spring or middle of the summer.

It is further stated by Lieut Fortune that July 10 this year the residence of a priest in that city was entered and about $450 stolen. The police of Portland he says have a description of the man who is about thirty years old and 5 feet 10 inches and weighs 150 pounds; dark complexion, dark hair, good dresser and did wear brown clothes when in Portland. The lieutenant also says there is a man who answers the description who had left Portland at the time of the robbery. In case the man is located he requests they be notified.

Do not fail to attend at 8 P. M. at the Chamber of Commerce tonight, the meeting in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. movement in this city.

Mr. M. W. Lee, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Virginia is expected to be present and will speak on the Y. M. C. A. in its relation to community needs.

The Boy Scout Movement

There is no other organization that has taken such a world wide grip upon the boys of two hemispheres as the movement known as the Boy Scouts. In almost every country this wonderful boy work has grown beyond the wildest dreams of its organized the boys of Mafeking, Powell, who first conceived the idea in 1893 and in 1900 Major Lord Edward Cecil, his chief staff officer, organized the boys of Wafe, King Africa, as a corps for general utility on scout lines, and the success of the venture assured the success of a national organization. In 1910 the Boy Scout movement spread to the United States where it received the indorsement of the highest officials in the land, and today the honor is given to the Boy Scouts of being pages to those who compose the disarmament conference in Washington.

Alexandria being so near the national capitol, all the advantages that are given the Washington Boy Scouts are offered to the Alexandria boys. The departments of the government are opened to them with the opportunity to learn from expert teachers in the agricultural and geological survey departments, as well as wireless aeronautics, and other lines keenly interesting to boys. In summer two most beautiful camps fully equipped are free to the Boy Scouts, one is located at Burnt Mills, Maryland, about 12 miles north of Washington and the other is on Chesapeake Bay.

There is no connection between the Girl Scouts of America and the Boy Scouts, it should be clearly understood, and should be definitely emphasized that the Boy Scouts deals only with boys, it has nothing to do with the management, direction, or program of the Girl Scouts, and the national council of the Boy Scouts would not approve of any attempt being made to do the work of the two organizations under the same executive or leadership. Joint hikes of girls and boys are strongly disapproved because of inherent difficulties of leadership.

The Ministerial Association of Alexandria representing all the Protestant churches of the city, at its last meeting unanimously advised the organization of the Boy Scouts in the churches. This action was taken because the ministers appreciated the need of something being done to help the Protestant boys of the city, and they also felt the importance of the work being done within the churches and under their immediate direction. This action was taken because the Ministerial Association of Alexandria realized that at present there is no organization for the boys in the churches that functions.

Rev. Dr. D. H. Martin, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, and Rev. Robert Browne, pastor, of the Methodist Protestant church were appointed to take the matter up with the national headquarters in Washington. As a result of their action Mr. Hall, organizer for the District of Columbia has organized two troops in the Methodist Protestant church and has made arrangements to organize the Boy Scouts in Trinity M. E. church.

The Boy Scout movement has no connection whatever with the Y. M. C. A. and is entirely separate and distinct from the Pioneers.

The Boy Scout movement in our churches is entirely new and in no way a revival of any former movement. Out of courtesy to the Y. M. C. A. and in justice to both organizations, it may be said that it does not interfere in any way with the programs of the Y. M. C. A., functioning within its own sphere. It is an attempt on the part of the churches, rational and necessary to do something worth while for the boys, and to keep the activities within the individual church where they properly belong and under the direction of the individual church which is the best institution in the community to carry on helpful work

The budget for the past year, aside from school appropriations, aggregated $1,012,817.22, the largest in history. The surplus last year at this time was $357,248.31, as compared with $303,145.33 this year, despite the fact that the city has used this year the sum of $212,550.84, which has already been expended for permanent improvements out of the current revenues. It cannot be forecasted, at this time whether the budget, which goes to the council in December, will be larger for next year.

Norfolk.—A student need not discontinue his studies even when sentenced to serve a jail sentence, ruled Judge Groner, of the United States District Court, in sending Charlie Lewis, 15, to the Gloucester county jail for sixty days after a hearing. Young Lewis was given the sentence for stealing from the mails, it being stipulated that he should be permitted to attend high school daily while serving the sentence.

RAILROADS TO CUT RATES ON FARM PRODUCTS

Application to I. C. C. for 10 Per Cent Reduction To Be Made

WAGE CUTS ALSO

Railroad Lines to Take Individual Action in Making Wage Reductions Effective.

New York, Nov. 17.—Immediate application will be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to put into effect on one day's notice a 10 per cent. freight rate reduction on all farm products "as soon as possible."

This reduction, which will cost the railroads of the country $55,000,000 a year, will be generally applicable throughout the United States except on traffic moving wholly within New England.

The cut has been decided upon for a period of six months, but it was announced, following a meeting of member roads of the Association of Railway Executives representing 201 lines, held here this afternoon that should the roads be successful in reducing payrolls during the six months' period the reduction would continue and would be made part of the general rate reductions which have been promised to the public after operating expenses have been brought down still more.

Announcing the decision, Thomas De Witt Cuyler, president of the Association of Railway Executives, stated that any reductions in such rates made since September 1, 1920, were to be included in the 10 per cent. and that it would be put into effect without waiting for a reduction in wages.

"The railroads already have reduced freight rates substantially from the level established by the commission in August, 1920," Mr. Cuyler's statement said. "The reductions already made are estimated, as accurately as can be, to involve a loss of revenue at the rate of from $175,000,000 to $200,000,000 annually. These reductions on many roads represent a loss much greater than any corresponding saving realized from reductions in wages already effected. The railroads are, furthermore, awaiting decisions of the Labor Board which, it is hoped, will relieve the companies of the expense of many onerous and uneconomical working conditions. The railroads are not in a financial condition to make this sacrifice.

"Unless there should be some revival in business, the probability of which is conjectural, the entire immediate loss involved in this proposed reduction in rates would be taken from the net earnings of the railroads."

Mr. Cuyler said the railroads were relying on the public for effective aid in bringing about the necessary reductions in labor and other transportation costs and that they hoped for labor's co-operation. He declared the railroads had taken the first step to relieve existing business depression and had given an earnest example of their fixed purpose to reduce rates and to relieve, at the earliest practicable moment, so far as reasonably possible, the public's transportation burden.

It was further stated that application would be made for a rehearsing of the hay and grain case, reduced rates on which commodities were to be made effective on November 20.

In the matter of seeking wage reductions the railroads will proceed as individuals, it was announced. So far as train-service men are concerned the effort will be unanimous to bring about a reduction which will re-establish the pay scale in effect prior to May 1, 1920.

For all other classes of workers the railroad managers will seek to establish a rate of pay similar to the going rate for similar kinds of work in other industries located at different points on the right of way. It was pointed out that there might be instances where some roads asked for larger reductions for a given class of employee than might be the rate sought on a road operating in another part of the country. What the roads are seeking is a liquidation of labor to a point which corresponds to the level reached in other industries where business depression has forced liquidation to a greater degree.

Railroad executive figure that a probable saving in payroll amounting to between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 will be possible under present plans for wage reductions. The roads stand committed to pass on to the public all reductions which they are able to make in operating expenses.

The football team of Episcopal High School will play the team of Woodberry Forest on Hoxton Field Saturday afternoon.

WHAT THE WORLD OWES US

The United States is the greatest creditor nation in the world, either now or at any time in history. There is owing to us by nineteen nations the staggering sum of ten billion, one hundred and forty-one million dollars. Great Britain, of course, heads the list, with more than four billions. Then France, with nearly three and one-half billions. Next comes Italy, with one billion, six hundred and forty-eight millions. Belgium, with three hundred and seventy-five millions; Russia, with one hundred and ninety-two millions; and Poland, with one hundred and thirty-five millions. Even the little black Republic of Liberia owes us $26,000. Cuba owes us nine millions, and Czechoslovakia, ninety-one millions. Esthonia owes us fourteen millions. Finland got into us to the tune of eight millions. The flourishing Republic of Latvia borrowed five millions. Lithuania also took five millions, and Rumania thirty-six millions. Serbia modestly requested and obtained fifty-one millions.

If the United States had her ten billions in the Treasury, it would necessarily relieve her people of much of their tax burdens both now and for some time to come. We cannot agree with those philanthropists who propose to forgive Europe our good American dollars had and received. With five millions out of work, with a hundred millions groaning under the legitimate burdens of the War, with business stagnant and nobody paying their bills except under pressure, the billions that flowed into European coffers are sadly needed at home. Much of this money has been raised by our Liberty Loans; much of it by oppressive taxation in every conceivable shape; and the people gave gladly and cheerfully, supposing it to go to the necessary expenses of a war in which they had no alternative but to win. But to talk of cancelling an indebtedness every dollar of which was squeezed out of the privations and self-denial of our own people—verges close onto idiocy.

Instead of forgiving Europe this staggering indebtedness we ought to set about collecting it or at least obtaining proper security for its future payment. Much of it we can never collect in any event. The longer we let it go the more remote the chances. Half the people of the United States do not even know where Latvia and Esthonia are, or even that such countries exist.

The debts accrued out of credits granted under our Liberty Loan Acts, sales of surplus war materials, food relief, and the operations of the Grain Corporation. Probably the peoples needed the money; but so did and so do we. Some of it could not be refused, we doubt not. But however that may be our government should take steps toward the earliest possible repayment of the moneys due the United States. The total reparation liabilities of Germany only amount to 32 billions, or, if we add the interest on the indebtedness to us, of about a billion dollars, due and unpaid—less than three times the amount we are asked by foolish publicists to cancel; thus adding to the vast sums we spent ourselves, eleven billions more.

It is a novel situation, unheard of before in the history of nations, and probably not likely to occur again. But the fact remains that it does exist and we are elected to hold the bag!

U. S. Veterans' Bureau

The first step toward carrying into effect the decisions of the Conference of the Director and the District Managers of the United States. Veterans' Bureau will be taken in this district immediately by the calling of a four day conference of the staff and field clerks of the Fourth District to begin on Monday in the Arlington Building at Washington. Manager Albert E. Haan of the Fourth District, who has just returned from the convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, has issued the call for the conference which will begin at 10 o'clock Monday morning, November 7th, and will conclude the following Thursday afternoon.

The Fourth District of the Veterans' Bureau comprises the territory of the District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. Headquarters of the district are at Washington, where there is also a subdistrict office. The eight other sub-district offices, are located at Baltimore, Richmond, Norfolk, Roanoke, Charleston, Clarksburg, Wheeling and Bluefield.

The forthcoming conference will be the first in this district since the reorganization and combining of the various governmental ex-servcie relief organizations under the Sweet Bill which began late in the summer. It's purpose will be to pass along to the district chiefs and sub-district officers the decisions and interpretations of law reached at the recent national conference.

Important among the propositions to be considered will be the new policy of vocational training, designed to rehabilitate the disabled ex-service men in a more satisfactory manner. Interpretations of the new Sweet Bill and problems of decentralization will be discussed. Questions of contact through subdistrict offices with former service men will also be taken up and conditions in these offices and the relation of their personnel to the former service men will be gone into, principally as concerns the responsibility of Bureau officers for a personal interest in these men.

About three months have been spent by the new Veterans' Bureau in organizing the fourteen national regional districts and their sub-district offices and in conducting a nation-wide "clean-up" campaign, resulting in thousands of new contacts throughout all fourteen districts. The Washington office is now practically on a self functioning basis, handling its own old files as well as new ones and this is the first opportunity the districts have had to take stock as to where they stand and what they have done.

The program for the forthcoming conference as arranged calls for two daily sessions. There will be three officers present from each sub-district; the sub-district manager, the medical officer and the vocational training officer. MOTHER, QUICK! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP FOR CHILD'S BOWELS

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Every Member Canvass

Only a few days remain before the nationwide campaign of 1921 draws to a close, for the Every Member Canvass with which it is to conclude takes place November 20, when every Episcopalian in the diocese of Virginia will be asked to give financial manifestation of his interest in the great work of the church. The goal for this diocese is $270,000 and last year this amount was heavily oversubscribed, giving Virginia one of the finest records of any diocese in the whole country, and it is believed that the same will be true again and possibly even to a larger extent.

Rev. G. M. Brydon, treasurer of the diocese and leader of the movement in this territory, is of the opinion that all church people have undertaken the work of the campaign this year with a deeper sense of consecration than ever before and this intensified spiritual appreciation has been the keynote of the entire enterprise. Mass meetings for prayer and discussion have been help in almost every parish, while cottage prayer meetings have been, and continue to be most successful, as indicated by the large attendance. The Right Rev. Wm. Cabell Brown, D. D., bishop of Virginia, in all his visitations is telling the people what the campaign really should mean to all Episcopalians, emphasizing the goal set for those congregations within his jurisdiction.

As a result of the movement it is hoped that Virginia will give ten young men to the Christian ministry, ten volunteers to the mission field, ten women for mountain work, many leaders of parish organizations, Sunday school teachers and choir singers, 10,000 daily intercessors and an equal number of proportionate givers. An intercessor is one pledged to pray for certain church enterprises daily and a proportionate giver is one devoting a percentage of his income to religious purposes.

The Boy Scout Movement

among boys. The churches are the logical guardians of the boys and the public looks to them more than to any other agency not only to give the boys moral and spiritual uplift, but also pure and wholesome social and physical recreation. The idea of the Ministerial Association is to organize the Boy Scout movement in the individual church, making the unit so organized responsible directly ot the church and also officially connected with the national headquarters in Washington. Surely, every church should be in a position to care for the activities of its own young people and be responsible for them and not delegate those responsibilities to outside organizations. The church should be the zealous guardian of her young people and see to it that thecorrect spiritual and social education of the youth is shaped by her self, and not left to outside agencies. It was the unanimous opinion of those present at the ministerial meeting referred that the Boy Scout movement is entirely suited to our needs for work among boys.

(Signed) Rev. D. H. Martin.

This wonder picture will transport you back through the ages to the wonder nights of Araby. Arabia, land of the all-powerful Caliphs. Land where beauty is the only "Open Sesame" to Harems of the Magnificent. Land where love means intrigue, and intrigue flaunts death with a smile.

See, hten, the wonderful night's adventure of the beautiful dancer, the bold desert dancer, who scoffs at all men's love and yet stakes her life for a lover. More daring, alluring heroine never threw careless kiss. Allah's will it is that men shall strive for her—and it is written that blood shall flow and the mighty walls of the Seraglio of the Mighty One rock to their foundations and the great bronze doors through which but one man may pass to the delights within be burst asunder ere her beauty and love find a master.

THIS WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Brings a Ray of Hope to Childless Women

Lowell, Mass.—"I had anemia from the time I was sixteen years old and was very irregular. If I did any housecleaning or washing I would faint and have to be put to bed, my husband thinking every minute was my last. After reading your text-book for women I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and have never felt better than I have the last two years. I can work, eat, sleep, and feel as strong as can be. Doctors told me I could never have children—I was too weak— but after taking Vegetable Compound it strengthened me so I gave birth to an eight pound boy. I was well all the time, did all my work up to the last day, and had a natural birth. Everybody who knew me was surprised, and when they ask me what made me strong I tell them with great pleasure, 'I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never felt better in my life.' Use this testimonial at any time."—Mrs. ELIZABETH SMART, 142 W. Sixth St., Lowell, Mass. This experience of Mrs. Smart is surely a strong recommendation for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is only one of a great many similar cases.

Ask your dealer about the Perfection Oil Heater Contest—$5,000.00 in prizes.

There will be a material saving of coal in over a million homes this year. The cost of coal has changed little, while kerosene has been reduced to almost half its former price.

And besides its great economy, the Perfection provides comfort-point heat for corners or bay windows that are hard to warm up with your coal heater.

The Perfection is practically a portable radiator. It is light, compact, yet durable and is an ornament in any room. Burns for about ten hours without refilling. No bother or fuss—just cozy comfort whenever you want it, quickly.

Put a Perfection in the path of those dangerous air currents and drafts. They will get in, through the window or door frames.

Go to your hardware dealer or department store today and see how attractive and practical the Perfection is, how strongly built it is, its smokeless wick adjustment.

Episcopal Educational Work

All is in readiness for the Every Member Canvass which marks the culmination of the nation-wide campaign of the Episcopal Church which takes place next Sunday, not only throughout the Diocese of Virginia, but in the country at large. The Rt. Rev. William Cabell Brown, D. D., bishop of this diocese, declares that if the churches in the cities do as well as he feels sure the towns and rural communities, will, that Virginia will over reach its goal of $270,000 as was the case last year, and so retain its place as leader of the country.

As a result of the cottage and congregational meetings which characterized the campaign it is thought that there is a deeper realization of the church's responsibility in this strenuous time, both at home and abroad, and that its work will be carried forward more eagerly than ever before. Owing to the movement which started two years ago the work of this diocese has grown tremendously and many parishes which were almost dead have been resusitated and are now vigorous and healthy.

Educational work, the work among the colored people and the support of mountain missionaries have taken a new lease on life, while the guarantee of a minimum salary for ministers has added wonderfully to the comfort and well being of the clergy in the smaller fields. Every communicant is asked to give a certain percentage of his income, although not asked to reveal the ratio, and thus will all become proportionate givers during 1922.

Makes the Family Car Less Expensive

Good gasoline gives every member of the family who drives confidence and satisfaction.

Greater confidence from the knowledge that the motor will always be responsive. It will start promptly, even in cold weather. It will turn over slowly while you creep along in congested traffic and whirl you up heavy grades without a lot of bothersome gear shifting.

The better mileage you get and practical freedom from carbon —both due in large part to quick, complete, clean combustion —will give you the satisfaction that comes from getting maximum service at rock-bottom cost.

Volatility, rate and completeness of combustion, pressure developed in the cylinders, range of carburetor adjustment, big mileage per gallon—all desirable qualities in motor fuel—can be found in "Standard" Motor Gasoline.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline, because of innumerable laboratory and field tests, perfected refining processes, and the availability of crudes from different fields, has been improved and balanced till to-day it easily leads in quality.

Discover its goodness for yourself, if you have been using imitations. Drive in at the "S. O." sign. The same high quality wherever you get it, and easily found.

The best garage men advise the use of POLARINE—a grade for every car.
